A large, hollow outline of the cursive letter 't' is centered on a grid of two horizontal and one vertical dotted lines. The letter is formed by a single continuous stroke that starts at the top left, goes down, loops to the left, then curves back to the right and up to cross itself. A separate, smaller hollow outline of a teardrop-shaped dot is positioned to the right of the letter's upper stem. Small black arrows are placed along the outline of the letter to indicate the direction of the stroke: one at the top left pointing down, one at the top right pointing down, one at the bottom left pointing right, one at the bottom right pointing left, and one at the top of the stem pointing down. A separate arrow for the dot is located to its right, pointing downwards.
